National School Breakfast Week

Rusy weekday mornings make it a challenge for many families and students to find time for a healthy breakfast. However, US Department of Agriculture data shows that more and more students are starting their days with a nutritious breakfast in their school cafelerias. The School Breakfast Program currently serves more than 14 million students every day. Studies show that students who eat school breakfast are more likely to:

- Reach higher levels of achievement in math.
- Score higher on standardized tests.
- Have belter concentration, memory and alertness
- Have improved attendance, behavior and academic performance
- Maintain a healthy weight.

National School Breakfast Week (NSBW) reminds the entire school community that school breakfast provides a healthy and energizing start to the day for all students. A healthy breakfast with the proper balance of nutrients is important for students of every age, but unfortunately as student's progress to middle and high school, participation in school breakfast programs tend to decrease. With greater demands in academics, extracurricular activities and sports, eating breakfast during the techage years is one way to ensure students are getting the best education possible to inspire a bright tuture. Making breakfast a standard part of the cay in elementary school helps establish a habit that is more likely in be sustained into articlescence.
